

Special Issue: The Global Pacific: Coastal and Human Habitats

Guest Editor: Dr. Ian Fookes

Waipapa Taumata Rau University of Auckland, Aotearoa New Zealand

Contents

Editor's Note – The Global Pacific: Coastal and Human Habitats	1
Ian Fookes
<hr/>
Exploring the Relationship between Global Studies and Ekistics	3
Ian Fookes
Pacific Man – A Future Speculation Developed from Pacific Architectonics	10
Norman Wei
Spacing Decoloniality: De-figuring the Coloniality of Space and Subjectivity in the Caribbean and Oceania	24
Ricardo J. Arribas
What We Have (And Have Not) Learned from Early Research on China's Engagement in the Pacific	41
Stephen Noakes and Anna Powles
Exploring Sustainability through Chinese Study and Interest in the Sāmoan Language: A Situational Analysis Informed by Fa'afaletui	47
Tianyi Luo and Patrick Thomsen

Pacific Peoples in Tertiary Education in Aotearoa New Zealand	55
Daisy Bentley-Gray
Outside in the Moana? Chinese international students' experiences of studying in Pacific Studies at the University of Auckland, New Zealand	61
Bangguo Du and Patrick Thomsen
Yuki Kihara's 'A Song about Samoa サーモアについてのうた': Reimagining the Pacific through Japanese Relations	68
Ian Fookes
Gender and Equity in Post-Haiyan Disaster Resettlement Communities: Reflections from Fieldwork in Leyte, the Philippines.	89
Glenda Tibe Bonifacio
Poem – the second Friday of the week	94
fiona chivers shirreffs
'Walking to Work' Extract from The Backyard Adventurer (2021)	95
Beau Miles
Book Review: Something of the Marvelous: Lessons learned from nature and my sixty years as an environmentalist	104
Peggy Lauer

Deputy Editor (Lead on this issue): Ian Fookes (PhD) (CELTA), Lecturer in the School of Cultures, Languages and Linguistics, Waipapa Taumata Rau / University of Auckland, Aotearoa New Zealand.

Editor-in-Chief: Kurt Seemann (PhD, BSc.DipEd(Hons) UNSW), Grad. Cert. (Management Competence) AIM-Deakin University, ACM), Adj. Professor. Swinburne University of Technology (2021-2024), Assoc. Professor. Federation University (2021+), Australia.
